THE PUFFER FAMILY OF MASSACHUSETTS.

CORRECTED AND ENLARGED FROM THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL REGISTER FOR JULY, 1868.

I HAVE lately been making some attempt to form a genealogy of this family, to which little attention has ever yet been paid. It may be said that the family has deserved no more, never having been of importance or prominence; this, however, is an argument which the true genealogist rejects with scorn, believing that every one who has lived has thereby gained the right to have his pedigree recorded at length. My own interest in this family is caused by the fact of descent from the first of the name. It is indeed pleasant to have the interest of kinship combined with such extreme novelty of research.

24 February, 1640, the town of Boston granted to GEORGE PUFFER land for five heads, that is, twenty acres, at Mount Wollaston, afterwards Braintree. Of him nothing more is known, but the family was continued under the name of Puffer by two persons, who may confidently be called his sons; and the "widow Puffer," who died at Braintree 12 February, 1677, was undoubtedly his relict. Mary Puffer, "an aged woman" who died at the same place, 22 July, 1700, is perhaps more likely to have been his daughter, than the widow of his eldest son.

SECOND GENERATION.

2. II. JAMES PUFFER, probably elder son of George, born about 1624; married at Braintree 14 February, 1656, Mary Swalden (? Spaulding); died at Braintree 25 July, 1692, aged about 68. Children, born at Braintree:

3. II. MATTHIAS PUFFER, probably second son of George; married at Braintree 12 March, 1662, Rachel Farnsworth. Children:

- i. Joseph, b. at Braintree in March, 1663; killed by Indians at Mendon 10 July, 1675.

- iv. Esther, b. ———; m. 2 June, 1697, William Sumner of Milton; d. 27 June, 1748; he d. 22 December, 1738.*

His wife was killed, by Indians at Mendon 10 July, 1675, and he married secondly at Dedham 11 April, 1677, Abigail, daughter of Richard Everett of Dedham. Children:

- v. Benjamin, b. at Braintree in 1678; probably d. young.

- ix. Abigail, b. at Dedham 18 May, 1685; m. 25 March, 1708, William Crane of Dorchester, who d. at Stoughton 20 July, 1742.

His second wife died at Dedham 27 December, 1685, and he married thirdly at Milton 14 May, 1697, Mary Crehore, probably widow of Teague Crehore of Milton. In 1662 he received an allotment of land at Mendon, where he lived a few years, about 1666-75, and was a Selectman 1671, 2; afterwards he lived at Dedham, later at Dorchester, where he belonged at the time of his third marriage. 12 November, 1693, he was admitted to the Church of Milton, but in every other respect seems to have preserved his connection with Dorchester, where he was Surveyor of Highways 1702, and Tythingman 1705. He died there 9 May, 1717. I presume he lived in that part of Dorchester which is now Stoughton.
